The Connection Between the Gender Pay Gap and Health

PRESENTER BIOSKETCHES

Corin Reyes, RN, BSN
Director of Health Equity
YWCA San Antonio

Corin Reyes is Registered Nurse with 15 years of nursing experience. She began her career in the United States Air Force as a clinical lab technician. After six years, she received a medical retirement and choose to continue her career in the medical profession by attending nursing school. Corin started her nursing career as a Licensed Vocational Nurse (LVN) after graduating from St. Phillips College, San Antonio's only HBCU. Nursing proved to be her passion and she returned to school immediately after graduation to earn her Associate's and then Bachelor's degree becoming a Registered Nurse (RN). Corin spent ten years working in direct patient care. Her experience includes primary care, pediatrics, geriatrics, and neuro trauma intensive care. After a decade of patient care, Corin was selected to join the hospital's informatics team to help transition the patient care systems from paper to fully electronic. The data and analytical skills gained in this role allowed her to be recruited by Aetna, now CVS Health, and a Quality Management Project Lead focused on various healthcare data analysis projects. When the pandemic hit and social unrest was on the rise, Corin choose to utilize her knowledge to effect change in the community on a more granular level. After obtaining a post-graduate certificate in social determinants of health from University of Michigan, she took on the challenge of assisting YWCA San Antonio in building their health equity program. Corin believes she can best serve her community by continuing to learn and grow. She is currently studying for her Master's in healthcare data analytics and research through the University of South Florida. As a passion project, she has collaborated with friends to create Naturally You, a health and beauty expo promoting health and wellness for women of color. Corin states her greatest accomplishment is being the mother of two young women whom I hope will change the world one day..
